Innovation and Automation

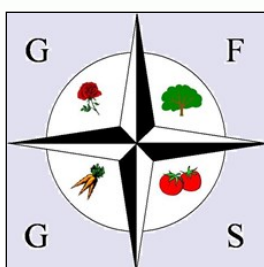

A presentation given by Ian Sadler

How your garden and house plants are produced in the 21st century including a look at some brand new introductions.

In the past, producing plants was very labour intensive.
Today automation has drastically reduced parts of production and in some case most!
A fascinating and truly amazing insight of how commercial nurseries work today.

Mr. Sadler has over 49 years' experience with the commercial production of a wide range of hardy plants in U.K Europe & North America.
